

A Birthday Party Gone Wild: Left Right Story

It was Jamie's birthday, and the house was downRIGHT buzzing with excitement. Guests walked in the front door, turned RIGHT down the hallway, and then RIGHT into the living room where the party decorations were LEFT there waiting for the action.

"Take three steps RIGHT!" someone shouted.

"Best birthday party ever!" he shouted.

The End.
